Coaching girls on basketball team

"As you were" . . . There are no words more familiar at Grady than are these three. They immediately bring to mind the image of a man — a teacher, a coach, a truly wonderful person. Of course, these words are descriptive of none other than Mr. John Haldeman.

"Daddy" Haldeman, as he is affectionately called by students, has patiently and skillfully helped countless boys and girls through pages of square roots, factors, theorems, and postulates. As coach of the girls' varsity basketball team and assistant coach of varsity football, he has shown keen insight in handling youth.

He well deserves the fondness and respect felt for him by Grady's students. So it is, Mr. Haldeman, that the 1956 Orator is dedicated to you — as you were — as you have always been — and as everyone knows you will continue to be — a patient and understanding friend and teacher.

MR. JOHN WALTER HALDEMAN

"As you were", famous words repeated so often in class.

Mr. Howard Owenton Draper

When Mr. Howard O. Draper leaves Grady this year, his absence will be keenly felt by all who have known him.

As a teacher of French and English at Grady and Boys High School for many years, he has proved himself to be outstanding in his field. His students placing in the Georgia French Contest is a direct result of Mr. Draper's expert instruction and guidance. His patience has set an example for those in his classroom.

As a friend to many Gradyites he has won a special place in their hearts. His radiant smile, friendly teasing, and wonderful disposition will be missed greatly.

For these reasons the staff pays special tribute to Mr. Howard O. Draper and hopes that his future years will be filled with the joy and happiness that he so richly deserves.

administration

The administration of the Atlanta Public School System has been a very successful one under the leadership of Dr. Ira Jarrell. She has instigated many plans to improve the public schools and has made Atlanta one of the leading educational centers in the Southeast.

Under her guidance the community high school system was established in 1947. Each of the sixteen high schools has been evaluated and is fully accredited by the Southeastern Association for Secondary Schools and Colleges. Every student at Grady today is benefiting from this system.

Working ably under Dr. Jarrell's direction are Dr. G. Y. Smith, Mr. Roy W. Davis, Mr. T. W. Clift, and Mr. M. E. Coleman. We have their fine staffs to thank for the advantage of education as offered in Atlanta.

Superintendent, Dr. Ira Jarrell, admires shiny school bell.

The Parent-Teacher Association enables the parents to be an integral part of school life, and acquaints them with the various problems which often confront a child during this important phase of his life. The Henry Grady P.T.A., consisting of nearly two thousand parents and one hundred per cent of the teachers, is the largest organization of this type in Georgia. Monetary support for various activities, new pine trees in front of the school and a proposed picket fence around the Senior Patio are results of the combined efforts of every member of the P.T.A. Whether they are all assembled at a meeting, at the annual spaghetti supper, or in the various classrooms visiting teachers, they are taking the opportunity to help mold fruitful, mature individuals for tomorrow's society. Officers are Mr. Fred Nash, president; Mrs. John A. Mann, 1st vice-president; Mr. Seaborn Jordan, 2nd vice-president; Mr. Jack Isenberg, 3rd vice-president; Mrs. E. L. Morse, recording secretary; Mrs. J. F. Ezell, Jr., corresponding secretary; and Mr. Leroy DuBard, treasurer.

alumni association

The Alumni Association is an organization in which Grady takes great pride. Many of its members have continued in colleges throughout the United States to uphold the standards of unexcelled scholastic excellence, which made them such worthy students during their high school years. In the latter part of December a reunion, which close to one hundred former Gray Knights attended, was held. In addition to various meetings and activities, a basketball game between the varsity boys and the alumni was played. The alumni team, consisting of Harry McDevitt, Richard Austin, Johnny Griffin, Jerome Green, Jack Rudolph, Lester Breen, and Freddy Benamy, was victorious. Financed by membership dues, a trophy is awarded each year by this association to the senior who has been selected by the graduating class as having the "Most School Spirit". All alumni are invited to attend all of Grady's dances and are given special cards which admit them free of charge. In expressing our thanks and appreciation to these fine men and women, The Orator would like to extend an added handshake to those who have already proven themselves to be society's leaders.

Mr. Baxter welcomes Jon Oliver, head of the Alumni Association, back to Grady.

The "Most Intellectual" boy in the senior class is Bill Hudson, who has maintained a perfect 95 average. Phyllis Alterman, with only one "B" on her record, is the "Most Intellectual" girl.

"Best All-round" are Molly Brown and Wink Wilkin. As examples of their many activities, both are officers of the senior class and members of the Junior Civitan Club. Wink plays football and baseball, and Molly is co-captain of the cheerleaders and also plays basketball.

standing seniors

Park Turner, as co-captain of the football team and outstanding basketball and baseball player, well deserves his title of "Most Athletic." Evelyn Youngblood, "Most Athletic" girl, has been a valuable guard on the varsity basketball team for four years.

As manager of the football team and member of the baseball team, Jack Brady is worthy to be called "Most School Spirit." Alys Chew, co-captain of the cheerleaders and editor of the yearbook, is the girl with the "Most School Spirit."

Tommy Sarbrough and Marilyn Gregory, who greet everyone with smiles and pleasant "hello's", are the "Friendliest."

There is no need to explain why Al McConkey and Beverly Blass were voted "Best Looking." Their picture clearly tells the whole story.

To be a teacher at Grady is . . . to be discouraged often by the seeming lack of progress . . . to bear silently the brunt of severe criticism . . . to help in molding the lives of students by guidance and example . . . to lift the mind of a child from the darkness of ignorance into the light of understanding.

principal

DR. RUAL W. STEPHENS

The meeting will please come to order.

Telephone conference with parents.

Bong! Bong! Bong! "Excuse this interruption please . . ." The fatherly voice of Dr. Stephens, our principal, comes to everyone over the P.A. system clarifying some confusing detail of the complicated school program. Dr. Stephens is the final authority—the expert mechanic who keeps the parts of Grady's machine of education running smoothly. When any one of these parts becomes impaired, Dr. Stephens is always on hand to make the necessary adjustments.

In scheduling the seniors, he is confronted by a barrage of upper classmen dissatisfied with their schedules. His good judgment comes to light as he wisely rejects or accepts the requested changes.

His school spirit is exemplified by his being present at all Grady sports events and by his striving constantly to better Grady.

Dr. Stephens' sense of justice and fairness helps him handle the numerous problems of discipline and attitude which arise in a school.

During the five years that Dr. Stephens has been principal of Grady, the school has grown in leaps and bounds, and he has grown in understanding youth. Every graduate of Grady will remember him as a major guiding element in the difficult process of growing up.

"Henry Grady High School, Mrs. Brown speaking."

"What's your trouble?"

Good Morning!

These notices have to be out this afternoon.

. and we are off to college

Telephoning the homes of those absent, typing transcripts, and filing records are only a few of the numerous jobs which occupy the two secretaries employed in the Grady office. One can perceive the complicated plan on which a school of nearly 600 students is run, just by walking into the office and hearing the busy hum of typewriters, phones ringing, and the general hub-bub of office procedure. The secretaries are Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Brown.

Across the hall is another important office. There the counselors carry on their vital business with students and parents by talking over personal and school problems, supplying information about colleges, getting jobs for students, and orientating sub-freshmen. But most important they are good-natured friends of everyone. In this office, difficult problems of behavior, attitude, or schedule arrangement are solved. Here at Grady, we have two of the finest counselors in the Atlanta School System, Miss Elizabeth Setze and Mr. Nei Baxter. "No thank you" could be enough to express our gratitude for the patience, understanding and friendly guidance they have rendered to every student who has sought their aid.

Miss Culpepper, Miss Ray, and Mr. King teach senior English. In addition to this, Miss Culpepper is sponsor for the National Honor Society. Miss Ray coaches the two seniors for the valedictorian speeches, and Mr. King directs the senior play and assembly skits.

Miss Fargason, Miss Culpepper, Miss Petty, and Miss Ray teach junior English. Miss Fargason is head of the English department and sponsor of the Junior National Honor Society and Miss Petty is sponsor of The Southerner, the school paper.

Sophomore English is taught by Mrs. Baughman, Miss Jordan, and Miss Morrison, who is sponsor of Inter-club Council. Mrs. Baughman, Miss Hollar, Miss Jordan, Miss McCauley, Mrs. Remson, and Mrs. Smith teach eighth and ninth grade English.

"Take the short cut."

"Now what do I do?"

All through life a knowledge of mathematics is necessary. From kindergarten through the seventh grade, we are taught the basic fundamentals of this important field. Not until we reach high school do we begin to realize and understand the possibilities of the mathematical field. The hours spent in figuring and solving are not only for the simple purpose of producing correct answers but also for the more important results which are the increased agility of our minds, the knowledge of how to think and the qualities of logic and History: The present! The past! The future! The importance of these three phases of life is clearly shown to us by our fine staff of social studies teachers here at Grady. Students learn of world progress from the mistakes of their predecessors and from the findings of their contemporaries, through the many courses in this field.

The head of this department is Mrs. Walker, who holds classes in economic geography and problems of democracy. Community citizenship, a required eighth grade course, is taught by Mrs. DeFoor, Mr. Hilderbrand, Mrs. Hughes and Mr. Skelton. World history, which is offered in the tenth grade, is taught by Mr. Hilderbrand, Mrs. Hughes, Mr. Randolph, and Mr. Whitsett. Miss Carpenter, Miss Kerrison, and Mr. Randolph teach American history, an eleventh grade course. Social problems is taught to seniors by Mrs. Eskew. Mr. Bradshaw, Mr. Strickland, and Miss McKee teach health, an eighth grade subject which lays the foundation for later science courses. Human biology, an advanced senior course, is taught by Miss Stakely. Mrs. Asher teaches chemistry, and Mr. Sammons teaches physics to those who want to progress further into high school science.

This is shocking!!!

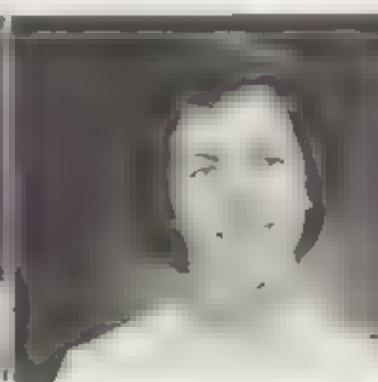

"You'll make a fine secretary, 'someday'."

Courses which emphasize the standards and rules of the business world are offered to the students at Grady who are preparing to enter business soon after their graduation. These students who are the business leaders of tomorrow get a sound foundation here at Grady for their future activities. Typing shorthand, bookkeeping, clerical training, salesmanship and office practice are part of Grady's business educational program. Mrs. Lowe, who teaches typing, shorthand and office practice, is head of this department. Working with her are Mr. Rheney, who teaches typing and clerical training; Mrs. Adams, who teaches bookkeeping and typing, and Mr. Strickland who teaches typing and salesmanship.

The football spirit is bolstered tremendously by our fine band of nearly a hundred members.

"Doc" Rumble, the beloved director of the mixed chorus, teaches music appreciation and general music. Miss Davenport directs the girls' chorus and also teaches general music. Mr. Seitz, who directs the band and orchestra, teaches instrumental music.

The strict discipline of military is experienced by nearly every boy here at Grady. The complexities of drilling and assembling a rifle are studied and practiced thoroughly. Captain Hill, Sergeant Bryan, and Sergeant Bailey are the instructors of the Henry Grady Battalion.

Also included in this department is mechanical drawing, a subject necessary to any boy who is planning an engineering career. The art of woodshop and printing is always of value to any boy or man. Mr. Shanks, who passed away this year, taught drawing and was the head of this department. The instructors in this field are Mr. Clonts, who teaches woodshop, and Mr. Morris, who teaches printing.

Among the different fields of physical education taught here at Grady are tumbling, dancing, tennis, volleyball, wrestling, basketball and softball.

These required classes give every boy and girl a chance to get the necessary amount of exercise under expert supervision. Mrs. Gones and Miss McCallie teach P. E. to the girls. Mrs. Jordan, who left Grady in January, was also a gym teacher. Mr. Russell, head of this department, and Mr. Matthews are the boys' instructors.

Mr. LeRoy Jackson

art

Posters and signs! Landscapes and stage sets! These are only a few of the many different kinds of paintings required of our art department at Grady. From rousing football posters to professional dance decorations . . . the art department under Mr. Jackson meets all demands. The other teacher in this department is Miss Mueller, who teaches eighth grade art, a required subject. Without this versatile art department, the school building would be a dreary place!

library

Book reports! Thesist Research papers and oral reports! All these essential parts of a high school education cannot be written without good sources of information. Such sources are to be found in our school library, operated under the supervision of Miss Respass and Mrs. Hannah. Grady students are given library lessons to enable them to use every opportunity available in the library to their advantage. In addition, the librarians are always prepared to help in getting information, finding a special book, or even in fixing the torn binding on a textbook.

They have the important job of keeping Grady a clean place where students may have a healthy atmosphere in which to grow, mature, and learn.

From mopping up three feet of water in the band room to adjusting the heat on cold days, the custodians work constantly to keep Grady a clean, comfortable place.

From early morning on any school day, one can smell the enticing odors, coming from the cafeteria and snack bar, of good clean food being prepared for hungry Gradyites. A variety of food is prepared every day so that each student may have a balanced meal.

To be a senior at Grady is . . . to be caught in the whirlwind of activities and studies . . . to feel the uncertainty of what lies ahead next year . . . to count the days until graduation . . . to be engulfed by the sadness of leaving familiar faces and sights . . . to step cautiously upon the threshold of a new life.

New fall clothes! The first football game Senior pictures! All the routine incidents of school hold a special meaning for us as we realize that this is our last year at Grady. Our senior year is an anticipated dream come true. We come to school, study, and take part in the daily activities just as usual, but with an added undercurrent of excitement, knowing that this is the last time.

Amidst all the excitement and flurry of the first senior meeting . . . the first football game at Albany . . . who are these people sitting calmly talking over the senior events of the coming year? Dance with me, Henry! Rock around the clock! The Cha-cha! Mambol Dirty Boogie! Billowing skirts and starched petticoats! Crossed slacks and jaunty bow ties! Laughter and dim lights! Each of these is an essential part of a gay and enjoyable Grady dance. But the most "fabulous" dance of all, the most important and most memorable social occasion here at Grady is the Silver Slipper Ball. At this affair, two members of the senior class reach the height of glory when, as the soft strains of the band penetrate the otherwise silent ballroom they are crowned Cinderella and Prince Charming of the year. This year Sue Jordan and Dan Troy were elected.

94.33! 86.42! 71.20! First, second, or one-hundred and one? What is my rating in the senior class? As soon as the list is put up on the senior bulletin board, there is a scramble to see who stands where in the class of 289. This rating is important in the rush to get in a college. Above are Jimmy Clinton, Herschene Arnowitz and Helen Petkes looking at the ratings for the first semester of the 1955-1956 school year.

Lights! Position! Action!
An expectant hush settles on the auditorium as every one awaits the grand climax of weeks of work. Under the critical direction of Mr King, the amateur actors and actresses put on a creditable performance every year in the senior play. The nucleus of this production is Mr. King's dramatic class. This class is made up of selected seniors who in addition to their regular English studies take on the tremendous duty of producing the senior play.

Stripped T shirts! French berets! The familiar cafeteria is transformed into a cafe reminiscent of the Left Bank in Paris. It is the time for celebrating! With their studies over, the seniors start the round of farewell gatherings with the Bowery Party. Everyone dresses as a Bohemian character to carry out the theme. What gay laughter! What sentimental words may be heard, as the seniors begin their last good-bye to their high school days.

College? Could they be talking to seniors about college? The seriousness of adulthood begins to dawn on them as if they turn their thoughts toward the future. In awe of all the important decisions awaiting them, the seniors listen to the representatives of colleges as they attempt to ease the tension and uncertainty of their new responsibilities. Higher institutions of learning from all over the United States send out fed people to explain the entrance requirements and various qualities of each school to seniors and juniors who are trying to make their choice. Above Hershene Arnovitz listens to a college representative.

New responsibilities! New opportunities! A new life! The vital importance of being a faithful member of whatever denomination we belong to is emphasized in the Baccalaureate Service for the seniors. The world is ours as we leave our childhood days and enter into adult existence. A strong faith in humanity and God should lead us as we plan and accomplish the goals of our future. Whatever road we take whatever means we employ to gain the ultimate end the memory of our Baccalaureate Service will be the guiding light to insure our becoming good citizens of our communities.

Nervous tension! Tears! Smiles! All these reactions characterize Grady students as they wait to walk down the aisle at graduation. The strains of the Graduation March begin, and slowly the long line of graduates ascends the stage. This night is the turning point in the life of every senior. A few may enter the auditorium as children, but all emerge with the realization that they are adults. Unconsciously each has already put away childish things and is ready to take on whatever life offers him.

To be an underclassman at Grady is ... to undergo the slow transition from an awkward adolescent to a mature teen-ager ... to form habits and traits that will remain a lifetime
... to lay the foundations of learning for years to come ... to experience

As school begins the juniors come back to Grady proud to be upper classmen. Many things combined make them feel that they play a very important part in Grady life. For instance, the need to answer some major questions occupies their minds. Should they take French or typing? What college do they want to attend? What subjects are required there? The glory of joining a senior honor club becomes an incentive to bring up their scholastic standing. The boys play on the varsity football team. Homerooms are now on the first floor. Teachers expect more maturity from them than ever before. Juniors are active in student council and other organizations. The door to every activity at Grady is open. Many join new clubs or the staffs of the Southerner or Orator. In the spring the presidents of the junior homerooms plan the Junior-Senior Prom. The ordering of senior rings emphasizes their growing importance. As the graduation of the seniors approaches, juniors watch enviously the excitement of their friends who will be off to college or on a job next year. As the seniors leave, the juniors look to their own graduation . . . to their own future.

sophomores

Sophomores are hard hit by the realization that their carefree, childhood days are far behind; yet the prospect of graduation is still in the misty future. What are they to do during this seemingly hopeless year of existence? This question is unexpectedly and fully answered with the announcement that for the first time they are able to be active members in a social club. Boy friends are suddenly seen and admired in a new light as they stand tall and proud in their newly acquired military uniforms. Sophomores awaken to the fact that they are no longer under classmen but are actually looked upon with awe by the little figures known as subfreshmen, groping their way through the corridors.

The difficult subjects into which they plunge are marks of distinction and maturity for each of them. The knowledge which these studies offer them is the beginning of a never-ending search and desire for world progress. As the year goes on, they realize that they are not simply existing—they are living!

freshmen

The next step upward—a feeling of progression—the second phase of a new life. This is what the Grady freshmen experience. Each of these students has successfully emerged from the taunts and teases so plentiful during the previous year. They now wear their new dignity with an air of responsibility and satisfaction. The realization that high school is a serious business calms their untamed spirits and their childish manners. The fact that they are soon to be upper classmen is an incentive for them to prove them-solves worthy of this hard-earned title. Offered the opportunity to elect various subjects, they choose wisely with the help of counselors and parents.

A ninth grader has an added responsibility because the subjects which he will take from the beginning of his freshman year until graduation are accredited studies. He realizes now that he must set the example for those in the eighth grade and at the same time follow the examples offered by upper classmen.

It is at this time—the freshman year at high school—that the students begin to put the past aside, concentrate on the present, and prepare for the future.

sub-freshmen

How lost can one feel? How confused? How utterly and completely unnecessary? Bewilderment to the nth degree is personified by Grady's 391 sub-freshmen. The glory of the graduation class from grade school is suddenly shattered as these boys and girls once again begin their long climb from the bottom. Yet the way is not so long and treacherous as it may seem. The eighth graders quickly become accustomed to the more hectic routine, plunge into the complex studies and eagerly anticipate the awaiting responsibilities. Confronted with various problems, their spirits are very seldom dampened, for they are still filled with the enthusiasm and willingness so typical of youth.

Boys fully equipped with helmets, padding, and cleats are the youngest football heroes at Grady. Girls dressed in sweaters and skirts of red and grey get a taste of school spirit.

The student council depends upon many of these eighth graders to help iron out class problems, to carry out requests and suggestions of the upper classmen and to assist in every way possible with other school functions.

In reality, Grady's sub-freshmen are necessary, wanted and appreciated. The realization of this fact gives them a sense of security and satisfaction not to be duplicated by any other high school students.

To be an honor student at Grady is
... to be rewarded after patient, diligent study by a superior scholastic rating . . . to give service freely toward bettering the school . . . to emerge from the crowd as an outstanding leader . . . to hold high the torch of learning to light the path for others.

national honor society

A junior or senior must have maintained an 'A' average throughout his high school years to be eligible for membership in the National Honor Society. Then too he must be outstanding in leadership, character and service.

In the fall new members were inducted at a night service held in the fellowship hall of Haygood Memorial Methodist Church. Dr. Stephens, parents, and the chapter advisor, Miss Mae Culpepper, were present. Afterwards refreshments were served and Jerry Bramblett entertained with his piano recital, "Variations on a Familiar Theme."

Over the Christmas holidays many of the honor students went to Miss Stakely's house where they helped with the schedules. Later on in the year a banquet was held at the Town House for all members.

Each student in this organization sets an example for others in the school and should therefore, heed this poem:

"Hold high the torch; you did not light its glow,
'Twas given you by other hands you know,
'Tis yours to keep it burning bright,
Yours to pass on when you no longer need light,
For there are other feet that we must guide,
And other forms go marching by our side,
Their eyes are watching every tear and smile,
And efforts which we think not worth the while
May be, perhaps, the very things they need,
Actions to which their souls will take most heed,
So that in turn they'll lift the torch and say:
'I saw another carry it this way'."

Refreshments are served after the induction.

national beta club

The Beta Club is composed of juniors and seniors who, during their previous high school years, have maintained a substantial "B" average in their studies and have proven in various ways their leadership ability, good sportsmanship, and devotion to Henry Grady High. These students believe in and constantly strive to promote principles of honesty, co-operation, humility, and charity.

This year much emphasis was put on meetings that gave information concerning various aspects of colleges. One such meeting was held at Rock Springs Presbyterian Church where a panel of alumni discussed exams, fraternities and sororities, and other phases found in campus life. The former Gradyites who served on the forum were Angelyn Sanders, Phia Peppas, Mrs. Priscilla Goodwin Bennett, Allen Ecker, John Crawford, and Dave Baldwin. Also during January the club sponsored one of its many projects, the polishing of all Grady's trophies.

Sponsored by Mr. Rembert Green, the Beta Club enables each member to be recognized as an outstanding student and a true citizen.

They guide the members.

junior national honor society

The Junior National Honor Society is the first honor organization available to an ambitious sophomore. Once an underclassman has gained the honor and privilege of acceptance into this chapter, he has established for himself a firm foundation for his remaining high school years and, undoubtedly, for his future success in college, career, and life itself.

The students in this chapter sell popcorn during school for two days to raise money, part of which is used to pay for a medal awarded by this organization to the eighth grader who has maintained the highest scholastic average at the end of the year. Also the eighth grader's name is engraved on a plaque hanging in front of the school office.

Every member, under the guidance of Miss Dorothy Ferguson, is a fine example of our school's excellent scholastic standards. Even though the Junior National Honor Society is at the beginning of the Grey Knight's climb, it is a gateway to a promising adulthood.

Symbols of achievement.

A word of wisdom from our principal

A speaker adds life to a banquet.

quill and scroll

The students of Henry Grady who work on either of the two publications and who have maintained a "B" average throughout high school, are eligible for membership in Quill and Scroll. The members meet to gain better ideas of journalism in order to produce finer literary publications. For this reason several speakers were invited to various meetings. One of these speakers was Mr. Claude Grizzard, Sr., who spoke on "How to Sell an Ad."

Also the members put out a newspaper which goes to seventh graders who will enter Grady the next year. This paper is an introduction to the opportunities, achievements, good times, and hard study that can be expected in high school.

The members of the Quill and Scroll leave the society with a feeling of accomplishment, and a better understanding of the production that goes into literary publications.

achievements are rewarding

junior civitans

The Junior Civitan Club, whose members are primarily elected on the basis of outstanding leadership and service, is a high school branch of the Senior Civitan Organization. The boys and girls who are admitted must have made an acceptable scholastic record in addition to various other requirements.

Each month this organization selects a student who has contributed a great deal toward bettering Grady and recognizes him as the "Citizen of the Month."

In the fall of this year, the Senior Civitan Club that sponsors the Grady, O'Keefe, and Smith Chapters gave a banquet for these members at the Shrine Mosque. At Thanksgiving and at Christmas, the Grady members are kept busy selling Claxton Fruitcakes, the proceeds of which are used for the purchase of records, such as "Macbeth," often played in the various classes along with actual study.

Arlene Huggins and Ann Newcomer were sent as delegates to the Civitan Convention in Macon, Georgia. Another such convention was attended by Nancy Bressler and Anne De Sharzo in Decatur. Every activity in which any member has participated is proudly displayed in the chapter scrapbook.

the student council

The Student Council, under the advisoryship of Mr. King, consists of the co-presidents of the student body, the three officers of each grade level, the president of the Inter-club Council, and the highest ranking officer in the military department. In addition to helping form the policies of Grady, the Student Council is the channel through which desires of the students are expressed.

Each week this council holds a business meeting. On the following morning one of the members of this organization reports any new plans or policies over the P. A. system.

In the spring the elections for co-presidents stir up much excitement. The campaign goes on for one week, after which final balloting is held.

parade

Representatives of the people! Democratic ideals at their highest! Henry Grady High School can proudly boast of these two factors, which are so vital to a successful student government. Although the Student Council is the body which has the authority to put various school plans into effect, the Board of Homeroom Presidents may make suggestions. Their meetings, held bi-monthly under the advisement of Mr. King are always full of new ideas and plans which might benefit the students. After each meeting, all presidents give a complete report of progress to the homeroom which they represent. In turn they are bombarded with questions and suggestions concerning these new ideas, from inquisitive and ambitious classmates.

The presidents of the senior homerooms are kept especially busy by such things as the ordering of graduation invitations. Each member of this board deserves a vote of appreciation from his fellow classmates.

the orator

Balanced layout! Bleed pages! Cropping! Proofreading!
The final deadline!

As the fatal day rapidly approaches, the finishing touches are frantically added to THE ORATOR! It is impossible for one to imagine the heartaches, headaches, writers' cramps and eye strain which enter into the finished product. However, it is more impossible for one to imagine a high school without a yearbook! Therefore, the staff does its best so that every student possessing an ORATOR may derive from it the enjoyment he has anticipated throughout the year.

In addition to planning the annual, the staff, under the guidance of Miss Kerrison, also has charge of publishing the Grady student directory called WHO'S WHERE AT GRADY? This directory was edited by Ada Rosenfeld, who also compiled the index of the yearbook.

Special "thanks" go to Miss Culpepper, Miss Fergason, Mr. King, Mr. Draper and Miss Morrison, who gave unselfishly of their time to proofread the yearbook copy—to John Beeder, who designed the beautiful cover and division pages—and to all the many people who had a part in making THE 1956 ORATOR a success.

hounds

Each month students here at Grady eagerly await the arrival of the new issue of the school paper, THE SOUTHERNER. This publication, sponsored by Miss Petty, is important to the school because it previews coming events such as athletic games, dances, and projects of the Student Council for the benefit of everyone. Then, too, THE SOUTHERNER keeps Gradyites informed on the worthwhile activities of their fellow students.

In the Christmas edition, the paper sponsors the senior superlatives, who this year had their pictures displayed on the front page in the shape of a "G".

Because the P. T. A. no longer aids the paper financially, students pay five cents an issue. Also, to cut down on expenses, the SOUTHERNER staff has the paper printed on regular newsprint instead of the previously used slick paper.

I.P. a. system helpers

Every phase of Grady life is brought within the reach of students by means of the public address system. Announcements are made of club meetings, activities of Student Council, dates of athletic events, and other things of importance to the entire school. The announcers for this system are boys who are selected for their fine speaking voices.

2. motion picture operators

The Grey Knights have a club made up of capable boys who are interested in operating motion picture projectors. Under the direction of Mr. Sammons, one of the science teachers, students are taught how to use the motion picture machines in order to show movies to the various classes. This visual aid adds variety to regular textbook studies.

The members of the Motion Picture Operators Club are given activity credit for the time and energy they spend in performing this service for the school.

3. buttons and bows

Buttons and Bows is an organization consisting of girls who are interested in learning how to sew and in making clothes for underprivileged children. Under the supervision of Miss Creighton, they have meetings every other week, at which time they discuss personality problems.

4. counselors assistants

Miss Setze and Mr. Baxter help many students with their problems, but these counselors, too, need assistants in working out their busy schedules. These girls run errands, deliver messages, and do any jobs assigned to them. Each of them earns an activity credit for her work.

5. f. t. a.

It is hard to imagine just how much a teacher has to endure, unless one has been a member of the Future Teachers of America. This organization, sponsored by Miss Lindsey, is composed of juniors and seniors who have scholastic averages of "B" and above. Their main duty is to take charge of classes from which the teachers are absent. Although the F. T. A. is not considered an activity course, each member who teaches a minimum of forty hours during a year receives a Grady letter for his services.

library assistants

The library assistants have a great responsibility because of the innumerable activities they perform. They check books in and out, dust shelves, return books to their proper places, stamp library permits, help students find information, and send out overdue notices. Only with the help of these assistants can these duties be performed efficiently and successfully. Their efforts are greatly appreciated by the hundreds of students, by the members of the faculty, and especially by the two librarians, Miss Respass and Mrs. Hannah.

office assistants

The phone rings! The mail comes! An announcement is posted! Grady's office assistants are kept on the go every minute of the day. They help not only faculty members, but also many students as well. They are stenographers, private secretaries, telephone operators, mailmen, watchmen and errand-boys. They are truly jacks-of-all-trades!

In addition to gaining office experience, these busy assistants receive activity credit for every semester they participate in this office work. The results of their efforts seldom go unnoticed or unappreciated.

clinic

"Achoos," "Harumphs," and "I-wanna-go-homes" are heard daily within the doors of Grady's clinic. With the many aches and pains (authentic or otherwise!) our nurse, Mrs. Bowcock, has her hands full. Therefore, the clinic assistants make their entrance into the activity-filled program. A few of their jobs are scheduling examinations such as chest x-rays, filing cards, keeping records, and running errands of every nature. With their help, Mrs. Bowcock is able to maintain a healthy student body.

cafeteria assistants

The students who daily help in the cafeteria have various duties. Some serve food, some help behind the ice cream or candy counter, and others act as cashiers. Because of the services which they perform, they contribute to the efficiency of the lunchroom. Each of these students receives a well-earned activity credit.

library club

Among the more literary activities here at Grady is the Library Club. Their efforts are recognized and appreciated throughout the school. They make talks about various books to the eighth grade English classes, arrange bulletin boards in many of the rooms, and write and produce library skits. Students may walk into the library one day and come face to face with a colorful display of books, or perhaps a Christmas scene, or an Easter bunny, all of which were put up by this organization. In addition to these school activities, the members of the library club keep a scrapbook, visit other libraries, and participate in the Fifth District Student Library Association.

bank tellers and directors

Money—the root of all evil! Banking here at Grady plays a big part in the school routine. Each Monday during the homeroom period, all students are given the opportunity to place in the bank their "left-over" week-end money or their well-deserved earnings acquired through various types of jobs. They are given a regular bank book and an account with The Bank of Georgia. Each homeroom has its individual bank teller, who handles all these complicated financial affairs. If a withdrawal is to be made, the bank teller is responsible for getting the check to the rightful owner. If any mistakes are made, it is up to the bank teller to see that they are corrected. In other words—he is the money man.

However, the teller is not the last word—over him are the bank directors, who are in charge of the overall school banking functions. In addition to directing the meetings held, they sell bank stock to the students.

joe k's

Playing a very important part in Grady life is the Joe K's Club. This is a service organization, consisting of sixteen girls who are members of the senior class. The name of the group is derived from that of Mr. Joseph Kelley, a former Grady teacher who passed away several years ago. The main project of the Joe K's is to help in the campaign to combat multiple sclerosis, with which Mr. Kelley was afflicted. In addition, they sponsor an annual candy pulling sale. This year the organization distributed programs at a P. T. A. meeting, played records in the cafeteria during lunch, had a pajama party, and gave a surprise birthday party for their advisor, Miss Setze.

f h a

Cooking! Sewing! Etiquette! Students with interests in home-making find wonderful opportunities as members of the Future Homemakers of America. Grady's members participate in many projects and activities which very often receive wide recognition. They fill a Thanksgiving basket for the less fortunate, plan a mother-daughter tea, and make cookies for Christmas. Each year several members attend both a state and district FHA meeting.

latin club

The Junior Classical League is one of the more intellectual organizations. Its members discuss the ancient language of Latin. Guided by their advisor Mr. Davis, and their president, Marilyn Carasic, they have done much toward building this new club. They have held reports and discussions on several books, and have shown various film strips dealing with these discussions. They are called the 'Volent-potes' from the two Latin words meaning willing and able—'volen' and 'poten'. In addition to filling a carton of food for the Thanksgiving program, their main projects have been a membership drive and the formation of a permanent constitution. Included in their plan for the future is a Roman banquet, for which their motto could easily be "When in Rome, do as the Romans do."

spanish club

The Spanish Club, sponsored by Miss Larendon, is open to any student who studies this language at Grady. The goals of the club are to increase its members' knowledge of Spanish-American history and culture and to add to the Spanish vocabulary of these students. With these goals goes the important purpose of broadening the minds and interests of its members in the hope that bigotry and prejudice in the Western Hemisphere will be reduced and will eventually disappear.

the chess club

The Chess Club, which is open to students from all grade levels, is sponsored by Mr. Davis. This club meets every Thursday—some members at the sixth period, and others after school. Once a month a representative from Grady attends a meeting at the City Hall of the High School Chess League, which was organized last fall. The schools, which belong to this league, of which Mr. Davis is also director are Grady, Murphy, Bass, Sylvan and Northside. In the match which Grady won 5 to 2 over Murphy, the Gradyites who played were Roger Adair, Moses Goldberg, Adair Heath, Dick Sokol, Alfred Willis, Pat Dickson and Lacrezia Bowdoin.

science club

The Science Club, which is a member of the Junior Academy of Science, is sponsored by Mr. Sanders. At the meetings which are held twice a month students develop their interest in the scientific world by going on field trips to such places as the Water Works, Atlantic Steel Company, and Emory. At the latter, the members are able to see the university's rock collection.

The students of this club help each other with projects that are entered in the annual Science Fair and the Science Congress. Grady's Science Club was host this year to the Atlanta Science Congress, which had its projects and displays set up in the school's gym. In this contest, several projects of Grady students won honorable mention, and Stanley Goldberg, who is also president of this club, won first place for his project, which was "Will Cadmium Sulfide Single Crystals Function As a Solar Battery?" As a result, Stanley gets a trip to Oklahoma City to attend the National Science Fair.

bible club

New to Grady this year is the Bible Club, sponsored by Mr. Green. This organization, whose main objectives are to have Christian fellowship and Bible study, is open to students of all denominations. Once a month the club has a guest speaker such as Reverend Joe Weatherly, "Youth for Christ" leader in India; Mr. (Uncle) Charlie Allison, Henry Grady Lions Club member, and Tech students affiliated with a Christian youth organization. At the meetings without speakers the members hold devotional services, which include having a prayer, Scripture reading, and singing. Afterwards they have general Bible study.

Every Saturday night, the thirteen Bible Clubs in the Atlanta area meet at the auditorium of the Atlanta Art Institute, where they hear guest speakers and see films.

y-teens

Who are the girls who annually come to school with armloads of potato chips? They are the Y-Teens members of the national Y-Teen organization. The sale of potato chips is this club's principal money-raising project. The members live by the teen code and participate in many worthwhile activities. Here at Grady there are eighth and ninth grade Y-Teen chapters.

junior hi-y

Two other facets of the Hi-Y found here at Grady are the eighth and ninth grade Hi-Y clubs. These organizations are composed of boys who are members of the sub-freshman and freshman classes. Their advisor is Mr. Strickland who helps these boys to uphold and promote the same principles set forth by the Co-ed H-Y chapters.

junior red cross

The Junior Red Cross is an organization composed of representatives who are selected from each homeroom. These students promote an enrollment campaign, visit the Veterans Administration Hospital, and sometimes give volunteer service at the Red Cross Building on Peachtree Street. They meet once a month under the supervision of Miss Carpenter.

gimme that good

ole grady spirit!

The Henry Grady band, consisting of about one hundred students from all grade levels, is part of the fine music department. The roll of drums or the clang of cymbals from the west wing of the building is always indicative of a coming pep rally, a football game, or a school campaign. Under the direction of Mr. Owen Seitz the band provides much entertainment and spirit for the entire student body. Annually this fine group of musicians attends the music festival and emerges with a "superior" rating.

The parents of band members have formed an organization for the purpose of raising money for new instruments. Also, twice a year they sponsor parties for these students.

The majorettes and drum major march along with the band during half-time performances. Often the majorettes exhibit their dance routines at pep rallies. This excellent band is responsible for much of the enthusiasm and spirit displayed at many Grady activities.

cheerleaders

The junior and senior girls who are chosen for the varsity cheering squad are elected by tryouts in the spring. These fourteen girls begin practice a week and a half before school opens. While the football season lasts, they encourage school spirit by cheering at the pep rallies, which are held once a week at that time, and by selling football tickets and programs. These red-and-grey-clad girls are always present at the football games no matter what the weather may be. Twice last fall they had to don their Bermuda shorts outfits, which are a new addition to their uniform and cheer in the mud and rain. For basketball season the squad separates into two groups, and each group cheers at every other game. Molly Brown and Alys Chew who are the only members from the squad of the previous year, serve as co-captains.

The B-team cheerleaders, elected from the sophomore and freshman girls, cheer not only at the B-team games but also during the half-time of the varsity football games. Co-captains for this year are Isabelle Scarborough and Nancy Glen.

The eighth grade cheerleaders are also chosen by tryouts but they are elected in the fall, about two weeks after school has started. Co-captains for this squad are Mary Long Timmerman and Carolyn Hannah.

drill team

Mrs. Jordan, who was the sponsor of the drill team, left Grady in January.

Now under the leadership of Sergeant Bailey, the girls in the drill team help the band to put on the shows that do so much to enliven the half-time at football games. Their work is not limited to the football season, though; they march in Atlanta's festive parades and, of course, in the all-important R. O. T. C. Sponsors' Day program. The girls have certainly made a big contribution to that 'good ole Grady spirit'!

"g" club

Two organizations which are open to students who have earned a Grady letter in the field of sports are the Boys' "G" Club and the Girls' "G" Club. In the fall and spring, these clubs hold an initiation, in which the new members come to school with costumes and black faces. At an assembly these initiates pantomime to tunes such as "Tutti Frutti," "Steamboat," "Lonely Nights" and "Sixty-four Thousand Dollar Question" to the delight of the student body.

These organizations jointly sponsor the Soc-Hop in order to raise money to have an orchestra at the senior graduation breakfast.

dramatics club

The Dramatics Club, sponsored by Mr. King and made up of students from the tenth through the twelfth grades, is designed to provide skits for the football pep rallies. The themes for some of the skits given this year were school spirit, burying Northside, and publicizing THE ORATOR. The students wrote and produced the skits themselves. The Dramatics Club also put on several one-act plays for the P.T.A. and assemblies.

orchestra

The Henry Grady orchestra, under the baton of Mr. Seitz, adds culture and entertainment to high school life. Annually this musical group, jointly with the band, presents a concert for members of the student body and their parents.

In the state music festival, which was held this year at the Georgia State College of Business Administration, the orchestra received the only "superior" rating awarded to an instrumental group of this kind. Though the orchestra seems to be occupied constantly with practices and programs, they still manage to find time for several yearly parties, which provide not only relaxation from a full schedule, but also fun and enjoyment for every member.

mixed chorus

Mr. Rumble, whom the students call "Doc," is the director of the mixed chorus. This group is composed of boys and girls from the ninth through the twelfth grade. Because of its large enrollment, it is necessary to divide the group, with the ninth and tenth graders meeting second period, and juniors and seniors meeting first period. The activities of the chorus include singing for the P. T. A., church groups, and the student body. This year the chorus presented the operetta, "Trial By Jury," and plans to present another such musical before the end of the year. The chorus again received a superior rating in the state musical festival.

The Girls' Glee Club which meets fifth period and the Girls' Chorus, which meets sixth period are under the direction of Miss Davenport. These two vocal groups are open to any girl who is interested in singing from the ninth grade up. This year both groups combined entered the state music festival and won a rating of 'excellent'. At Grady these organizations sing in several assemblies, including the Christmas program. Outside of school, these girls give concerts at the Georgia Baptist Hospital Chapel, the Old Folks Home at North Fulton, at various churches, and at the Education Radio Station.

military

edited by • ruth levin

To be a cadet at Grady is . . . to march in formation constantly . . . to pore over manuals which teach regulations and customs of the army . . . to drill or to clean rifles to work off demerits . . . to prepare for the time when life in the service will be a reality.

cadets!

The new teacher of military at Grady is Captain William B. Hill. Other instructors are Sergeant Robert C. Bailey and Sergeant Grady F. Bryan. The battalion is under the leadership of Cadet Lieutenant Colonel Bonneau Dickson. Second in command is Cadet Major Tommy Scarbrough.

On February 24, 1956, the annual Military Ball was held at the Georgia Military District Headquarters. There the cadet officers received their commissions, and Evyonne McElwaney was presented as Miss R.O.T.C. of 1956. Runners-up for this title were Kathy Rogers, Molly Brown, Sue Jordan, Mary Gene Brown, and Betty Lou Morrisette.

The purpose of the military department is two-fold. The first is to acquaint young men with military procedure and discipline in preparation for service. The second is to build responsibility for leadership when a cadet reaches his ultimate goal as an officer in the United States Army.

rifle team

The rifle team, which fired against high schools in the Northern Atlanta Region, practiced often until 5:00 p. m. after school in preparation for the competition. They won five matches and lost seven. High scorer was Mike Jones, who hit an average of 176.63 out of a possible 200. Sergeant Bryan coached the team and was assisted by Bill Converse. In February, after the regular matches were over, the team fired in the Third Army Jurisdiction Match.

To be an athlete at Grady is . . . to practice long hours after school has ended . . . to warm the bench and hope one day to be called into action . . . to feel the teamwork and spirit that the group possesses . . . to experience bitter defeat — then resounding victory in the face of great odds.

varsity football

Teamwork! Moral Support! Luck and spirit! All of these elements, plus hard work, made up the fine football team which Grady had this year.

The Grey Knights began practice early in the summer month of August. Each morning and afternoon for three weeks the boys exercised and scrimmaged, getting in shape for the forthcoming games. Then the season opened in Albany, Georgia, where the team received its first loss. Grady was slow in getting its feet off the ground, and the boys, hindered twice by rain, tied two and lost two. As time progressed, however, the team improved and added victory after victory to its record. Grady triumphantly ended the season by winning over previously undefeated Northside. This spectacular win would have placed Grady in a three-way tie for first place in the Northern Atlanta Region, had the Grey Knights not previously been tied by low-rated O'Keefe. Thus, Grady finished in third place.

Later, a football banquet was held in the cafeteria. At that time Kenneth Akin and Al McConkey each received a trophy for "Most Valuable Lineman"; Park Turner received one for "Most Valu-

b-team and 8th grade football

The B-team football season was not spectacular this year but revealed consistency in effort and spirit. Under the guidance of Coaches Whitsett and Skelton, the team won three games, lost two, and tied two. Captains during the season were Terry Parker, Frank Chastain, and Kimbrough Davis. At the end of the season the B-team elected Kimbrough as most valuable player. He received a trophy for this honor at the football banquet. The height of the B-team season was the last game with Northside, whom Grady defeated.

The eighth grade football team, coached by Mr. Strickland, won four of their games and lost three. The most exciting game was their big win over Smith. Jim Howard received the "Most Valuable Player" trophy at the end of the season.

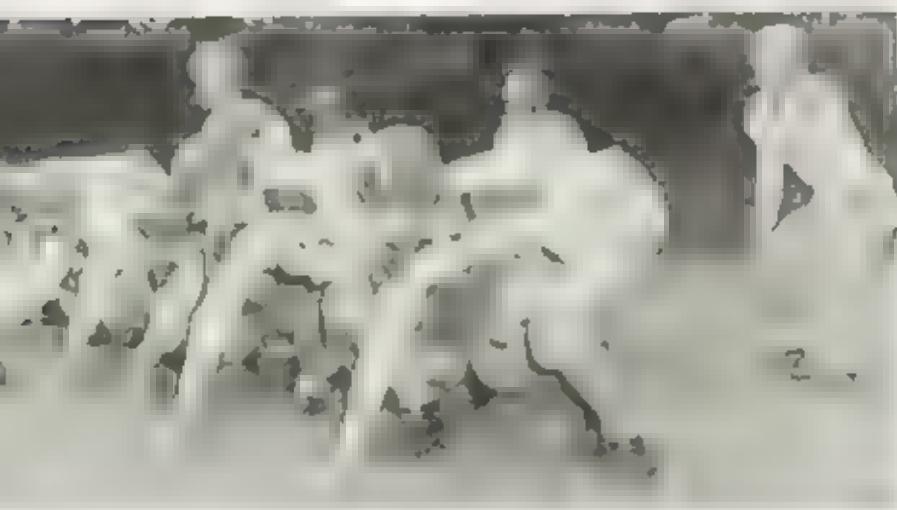

The B-team and eighth grade team are an essential part of the Grady sports curriculum, because these teams provide every young boy the opportunity to develop his skill for varsity sports.

varsity basketball

Under Coach Skelton, the boys' varsity basketball team finished a fair season with eight losses and four wins. Eddie Brandt was captain. The first string was as follows: Eddie Brandt, Al McConkey, Park Turner, Jack Bourne, and Earle Saye.

At the beginning of the basketball season, everyone had high hopes for Grady. Jack Bourne, for instance, made the 1955 pre-season Journal All-City Team. He was a determining factor in Grady's offense and was fourth highest scorer in the Northern Atlanta Region and fifth in the city.

The season started well with Grady's winning all five of the pre-season games. Yet as time passed, the number of wins became less. In the majority of the games that the team lost, the opposing side was victorious by only a narrow margin. Although the Grey Knights, as a whole, lacked height, they made up for it on the court by speed and spirit. Grady tied for fifth place in the region.

The B-team and eighth grade basketball season this year consisted of twelve games. The B-team, under the guidance of Coach Whitsett, won three games and lost nine. The highest scorers throughout the season were Noland Robinson, Kimbrough Davis, and Buddy Arwood. The eighth grade basketball team, under Coach Strickland, played twelve games, of which they won two. The outstanding player on the eighth grade team was Bob Lilley.

Just as B-team and eighth grade football prepares the younger boys for the varsity gridiron, B-team and eighth grade basketball develops the physical potential of underclassmen for varsity basketball.

girls' basketball

The girls' varsity basketball team, coached by Mr. Haldeman, deserves praise for its unquenchable spirit and good sportsmanship. Although these girls finished second from the bottom, with three wins and nine losses in the region, their love of basketball, their determination to play the best that they could, and their loyalty to Grady remained at the same high point all season. The first string was as follows: (forwards) Wanda Dell, Molly Brown, Lillian Lander; (guards) Evelyn "Mother" Youngblood, Virginia Monroe, and Barbara Barnes. The captain was Evelyn Youngblood, who, despite the low rating of the team, was so outstanding that she was elected to the Journal-Constitution All-City Team at the end of the season. Manager of the squad was Jerry Mitchell.

Some of the participating schools were Murphy, West Fulton, North Fulton, Sylvan, and O'Keefe. On May 4 and 5 of 1955 the Class AA Meet was held in Athens. Claude Grizzard, an outstanding Grady track star, placed third in the mile. Jack Rudolph also entering this meet, placed fourth in low hurdles.

The Grady cross country team, coached by Mr. Bradshaw, completed a good season in the fall. They won 4 out of 7 meets. The squad placed fifth in the city. Members of this year's team were Ronnie Balser, Jack Bourne, Morris Berch, Adeir Heath, Duke Hatton, and Julian Pappas.

Linda Swick, Carolyn Cobb, Pat Atkinson, and Virginia Scott, Harriet Hayes and Helen Kimberly went to the finals in their divisions.

The Grey Ladies as they are called played Bass, winning 5 to 0. When the team played O'Keefe, the girls defeated the Fighting Irish 5 to 0. Soon afterwards the Grady girls fought to a 3 to 2 victory over North Fulton and earned a 4 to 1 win over Murphy.

Composing the girls' team were Connie Goodwin, first singles; Linda Swick, second singles; Carolyn Cobb, third singles; Pat Atkinson and Virginia Scott, first doubles; and Harriet Hayes and Helen Kimberly, second doubles.

Answer the roll, please.

Congratulations to you!

Rise early for breakfast.

Playing an important part in Grady life is the Inter-club Council, consisting of boys and girls, each of whom is a representative from his own social club. This council is responsible for the always successful Christmas and Vacation dances, and for the fun-filled social club breakfasts, which are held once every two months in the Grady cafeteria. The food served at these social club breakfasts is prepared by helpful mothers, who come to school at 6:00 A. M., expressly for this occasion. After breakfast has been finished, a social club puts on a skit. The Inter-club Council, sponsored by Miss Dorothy Morrison, also serves as an intermediary among the numerous social clubs. The members are Gwen Burns, Bubbles; Iris Slater, Charms; Betsie Chotas, Clips; Frances Chandler, Debs; Louise Rose, Jinx; Skeeter Ison, Jugs; Barbara Clapp, Kitz; Helen Brody, Klix; Kim Davis, Lancers; Ann Newcomer, Locks; Betty Sue Sternes, Pegs; Dan Troy, Rams; Joyce Jones, Rebels; Mary Lou Happoldt, Snaps; Jackie Cohn, S n' S; Rhina Schaffner, Sparks; Dorothy Johnson, Tags; Harriet Howle, Tops; Shirley Etheridge, Whirls; Betty Lou Morrisette, Winks, and Babs Blakely, 3D's.

To be a solicitor of ads for Grady is
... to pound the pavement in a business community ... to deliver a sales talk that falls on deaf ears ... to feel completely discouraged when turned down by numerous concerns ... to keep on trying until finally an ad is sold.

Another year has elapsed . . . its fleeting moments reflected in this book of events. The ninth chapter of Grady life is complete. Its history is recorded on the pages of humanity.
But this is not the end of the Grady story, for new students will come to fill the places left vacant by seniors . . . new events will happen
. . . time will pass on.
